a few days, will, it is expected, be one of the most important movements for the improvement of the colored youthful criminals ever started in the South. Governor Tyler and the penitentiary of-ficials are taking a deep interest in this new institution. They believe with proper management this reformatory will do more toward the elevation and practical im-provement of the young negroes now in the fails and in the State prisons than anything yet attempted. The undertaking will be watched with interest by the peo-ple, not only in this, but those in other ple, not only in this, but those in other Southern States. If it shall prove a suc-cess, it is believed Mr. Huntington, through whose liberality this institution has been arted, will give further and much more
